

Proposition

What Little quite aptly calls ‘The Night Effect’ is a major FACT that affects us all greatly. It’s rather like a master skeleton key of explanatory power. I’ve known about this ever since I was a child.

This is a quote of a quote from Joshua Cutchin’s Fourth Wall Phantoms:

“In what Little refers to as the “Night Effect,” each evening brings with it the increased potential for archetypes to emerge. According to Little, archetypes “use magnetic lines of force for them to express themselves.”

Only on the Earth’s dark side---that facing away from the sun---are the geomagnetic lines totally intact and stable and the ionic forces relatively stable.

This is why archetypical forces appear and work mainly at night...

And since archetypal forces and most psi phenomenon depend upon undisturbed magnetic forces for the power that allows them to appear, darkness is their ally.”

Comments

The little dream energy creatures (free-floating Bio-energy sentient plasmas) that we share our world with, are more prevalent in certain regions of the world, such as around uranium deposits or near piezo-stress areas (yes, this is a reference to ‘Earth Lights’ and the work of Paul Devereux. This is due to the ‘plasma’ being emitted.

Earthquake faults and Uranium both produce free positive ions; ions being the major component of plasmas, other than dust, detritus and atmospheric or liquid components that are then ionized.

It also helps to explain why places like California and the Hudson Valley of N.Y, tend to be hotspots.

But like anything else, the degree of sentience varies widely.

Some ‘plasmoids’ are not really sentient at all, while others are quite intelligent in a markedly non-anthropomorphic way. They might not understand human behavior or much of human thought, but they can certainly have fun interacting with such a fun and interesting environment.

The ancients knew this for thousands of years.

If you want to attract ‘nature spirits’ (free-floating bio-stable plasmoids’, you might do like the ancient shaman did and still do to this day --- make an offering of burning tobacco. Burning tobacco is a TASTY TREAT for plasmoids, as it’s also plasma like they are---and in fact a ‘food source’ for a dusty plasma (combustion produces both ions AND the dust of combustion).

Now as a child, I provided a large haven for dream creatures, even during the day, as I had a strong and coherent field, that they hid within.

Dr. Gregory little – “The Night Effect” and It’s Impact on Summoning

This is what shaman’s do, you know, they let ‘spirits’ loiter in their coherent dream substance field.

Now if you do it incorrectly you get autoimmune disorders like most modern ‘UFO summoners’ generally get.

There is also no reason to allow such a haven to be permanent. Let the little blighters do the normal thing for their species---go underground, or underwater during the day.

This is also why you do NOT ‘dig’ in the “Horta mines” (A Star Trek TOS reference); a ‘Dream Substance entities’ nursery (a Faerie Mound too).

Just don’t do it.

Show some respect.

There is also an interesting correspondence here.

Ever notice how some of the most interesting occultists of the modern era had a Faraday cage?

“A Faraday cage or Faraday shield is an enclosure used to block some electromagnetic fields. A Faraday shield may be formed by a continuous covering of conductive material, or in the case of a Faraday cage, by a mesh of such materials.” – Wikipedia

Would you also be interested to know that the house I lived in when I had the fourth most powerful supernormal experience of my life, the “Point Blank Black Triangle Summoning” was in this unusual EM dead spot?

Yes, I could see the cell tower from my house, but for about a block around my house, I couldn’t get over 1 bar of cell phone reception!

I’ve known about this effect for years, but as I’ve had little desire to be a practicing shaman, I haven’t talked about it much.

Kevin Cann
Public Domain
4/24/2025