

Human UFO Deception

I just HATE how major 'UFO' pictures always wind up looking like tinsel party balloons thrown out of an airplane, into a fast moving layer of air flow.

One would think that those little alien fellers from a trillion different worlds, wouldn't all shop at the same party store.

I mean when to the stars academy of arts and science was launched by Christopher Mellon, he showed the first blockbuster 'UFO picture', which turned out to be a Batman party balloon from the UK. It was confirmed that's what it was.

JUST FYI, there's a certain cadre of US intelligence agencies that have a large budget to 'fake UFOs', and their favorite thing is to 'long con' high-level UFO researchers.

I mean, look how hard they tried to 'rook' Christopher 'Kit' Green with those alien autopsy and MJ12 active countermeasures campaigns (read Forbidden Science 6, it's all in there).

Why do these agencies do this?

So that people focus on 'this nonsense' and not what's actually true, which would severely damage the reputation of the United States for one, and two, the 'truth' is more than most people can take.

Human UFO Deception

So, you wave around a 'fake conspiracy' to cover another even more terrible 'truth' (or two --- there's two truths too terrible to be revealed).

Now are there 'real UFOs'?

Yes.

But at all costs we must be forced to believe in those "nuts and bolts craft" and not to look too closely at the 'real ones'; that, and the 'real ones' won't let themselves be photographed.

Thus the maxim:

"If you can take a picture of it, it's not a 'real UFO'.

It's not ALWAYS true, but nearly so.

Things like plasma orbs and plasma coulomb crystals ('eggs') can be photographed, and sometimes the Plasma Lifeforms drop 'slag' for our 'UFO researchers to find as well.

But that's 'NHI UFO Deception' and that's another subject entirely.

Kevin Cann
Public Domain
4/10/2025