

Summoning Basics:
Pick what you Summon, or it Picks You

In a reality where everything is thought, all the 'thoughts' that are similar enough to bunch up, and there are no barriers to do so, they do bunch up. It's no more complicated than that.

“Politics makes strange bedfellows”.

Call those bunchings hyperobjects, call them memes or memplexes, or simply a 'cosmic queue' that 'people' sign up for --- like catching a plane to the human world.

All this 'stuff' is drop dead simple, it's just that our thin layer of self-imposed certainty makes it a bit difficult at first to wrap ones' mind around such things, but it's just like trying to wrap one's head around quantum mechanics.

In short, everyone who wants to come visit the human movie bunch up, from DEAD GRANDMA to whatever else one might imagine.

If you want to 'summon a UFO', one must take care to send the invitation MOST CAREFULLY, like an attractor/repeller combo.

Lace the invitation with LOVE which attracts DEAD GRANDMA and other facets of the hyperobject that are friendly, and want to come visit you, while repelling the facets that don't like 'LOVE'.

This is why government or Industry sponsored summoning IS SO PROBLEMATIC, as government and industry are not especially known for being loving.
