

Modern UFOlogy is Shamanism Under the Covers

I've been compared sometimes with Whitley Strieber, apparently because I think 'this stuff' is 'physically real' when it wants to be (this is called the dream of physicality,

Here's the clarification part.

Even IF something is 'physically real' (part of the dream of physicality, or temporarily 'physical-ish real' due to say an Oz overlap zone (when two dreams (universes / time zones) overlap temporarily)

Even with all that... even IF a 'UFO' were to land on the Whitehouse lawn (it won't); but even if it did.

NONE OF THAT IS THE POINT.

Modern humans have largely lost the ability to reach beyond themselves like they once could.

Modern culture, science, religion and spirituality do not tend to do much of this function anymore, for most people.

But 'UFOs' act as 'shamanic initiation' whether it's 'all in the head' or 'entirely real' (the dream of physicality).

It really doesn't matter which one.

The point is to inspire awe and wonder, and to poke the student (the human) to wake up to their POTENTIAL like in a shamanic initiation.

We are largely reduced to the only 'authorized' form of initiation to be a belief in UFOS, and to let that 'carry us away' on the wings of initiation.

Also keep in mind, that hyperobjects (concurrent movies through a Monad) can appear as a 'UFO' (if that's what you need),

AND also, your dead grandma AND this AND that...

Rather like the hyperobject of Ezekiel's wheel, where multiple faces are seen concurrently overloaded onto one object.

So sure.... summon that 'UFO'.

It's a big hunk of your SOUL (there is really only one SOUL (Primordial consciousness) but it is inherently unstable and becomes 'Fractured Consciousness' after 10 to the -10 seconds so to speak (Some 'physicists' keep prattling on about this number, so I use it).

This concept is also quite related to the 'Accidental Summoning Hypothesis'.

Even if some guy fakes a 'UFO' with a Coleman lantern top on a string...

If it inspires someone, it opens them up and then they summon the 'REAL THING'.

(Fake it until you make it shamanism basic principle).

Really, modern UFOlogy is just shamanism under the covers.

This is also referred to as 'All roads lead to Rome' in Platonic Surrealism, as it doesn't matter what your perceived starting point is for this journey, the human shamanic potential, the potential to become aware of the larger ecosystem of which they are a part, is not considered 'woo woo' in many worlds;

it is called 'Human Adulthood' (a shout out to 'Jed McKenna' here for the phrase). In many worlds it's called something like 'basic ontological hygiene'. Or is part of a Home Economics class. Seriously.

(This is not to say that everyone's sole purpose is to be a shaman.

Not at all.

Just to wake up to the larger world which exists, not merely the cultural deception systems that people engulf themselves with. It's like becoming aware, for the first time ever, that you actually have arms and legs and are free to use them however you wish.)

And the further away that culture, scientism, religiosity and spirituality and such take us away from the body's innate shamanistic systems, the more lost we become.

All these 'societal improvements' on shamanism are just an increasing complexity and dominance of the left brain hemisphere, which increasingly chokes closed the shamanic portal that is the innate function of the human body;

that's why, after establishing the basics of POTENTIALITY, AWARENESS, etc., Platonic Surrealism heads right to the body and never leaves there, as the body is the 'evolved transcendent mechanism, not any contents of fractured consciousness (culture, scientism, religion or spirituality).

There is no shame in using your instrument of Incarnation. It is not a 'left-hand path'; It is the only path, evolved into these tissues. In every movie, AWARENESS has to learn how to use the instrument and resources at its disposal.

The so-called 'right-hand paths' are no such thing; when done with exclusivity (these mental concepts), the well-spring of embodied being is abandoned.

We are BOTH AWARENESS and POTENTIALITY, AWARENESS (the 'right hand') and the BODY (the 'left hand').

Without mastering both, we are weak, confused and ineffective.
